

Driven is a car rental company that rents luxury cars in India. They have both short-term rentals and long-term subscription models. I had the opportunity to intern at Driven, where my primary focus was on finance, though I also gained experience in marketing. During my 6-week internship, I spent 3 weeks in the finance team, assisting in the preparation of budget sheets, analyzing cash flow, and contributing to financial planning. I also worked on tasks such as calculating Net Present Value (NPV) and understanding Discounted Cash Flows (DCF) to evaluate the company's future financial performance. In the marketing team, I contributed to content creation and supported campaigns aimed at promoting the brand's high-end vehicle rentals.
